There's Power in Our Pride

Pride can mean many things to the people of Lowell High School. Students see pride as a shared love of our school spirit and how we show it off. Teachers and staff see pride as something to represent their sense of belonging in the school. When people see the letters RDP, they see it as a symbol of our school, students, and staff coming together to show what our school represents. RDP, if you don't know, stands for Red Devil Pride. This phrase is the true thing that can boil down what our pride stands for and has become a staple in our nightly football games and spirit weeks! It's easy to talk about our pride but you get a better glimpse of what our pride truly is in this book. We hope this book really captures how we show our RDP and we hope you can see how much we invested our time to really show how our pride can impact our school.

"There's nowhere to hide from our Red Devil Pride."

SUMMER

By: Emily Salomon

Dive Into Summer

Ryleigh Marsh (12) and Jenna McWilliams (12) head to Lollapalooza for the weekend. This was a great way to end the summer.

Endless Nights

Jorge Robles (12) and Alexandra Dahlman (12) attend the fair. What a great way to spend the summer together!

Easy Livin'

Lillian Biancardi (12) is feeding a giraffe a carrot with her mouth. She had a blast at the zoo in Wisconsin!

Cali Dreaming

Avery Burnside (12) travels to Los Angles for a nice vacation. She went and took pictures infront of the infamous pink wall.

Endless Summer

A group of seniors take a trip to the beach to enjoy the summer weather. Time to get the summer tan and cool off in the water.

Fair Night

Erin Rose (11) and her friend ride the ferris wheel. Spending time with friends is always the best.

No school for two and a half months? Warm weather? Pool days and bonfires? Thats what makes summer the best. This sunny break from school is always the time to make memorable moments with your friends from school. Capturing moments during these endless nights is what makes for a great memory to look back on. The Lowell High School students enjoyed their time off before heading back to accomplish another year.

Girls Trip

Seniors, Chloe Thiele, Kali Manojlovich, Sydney Siendentopf take a trip to Michigan. Enjoying the sunsets on the lake.

Summer Adventure

Olivia Stefoski (12) takes on Lollapalooza. The huge festival was a great time to enjoy music.

Escape Room

Alexis Wood (12) and David Ray (12) go to the Escape Room in Chicago. What a fun trip they had!

Wet 'N Wild

Jillian Richards (11) takes a trip to Key West. She had an amazing time enjoying the beautiful view of the beach.

Vacation Fun

Paige Anderson (12) and Maddy Anderson (10) take a family trip. Hiking and enjoying the view is always the best.

Summer Afternoon

SPIRIT WEEK

By. Emily Salomon

Spirit week is everyone's favorite time of the school year because each day you get to dress differently. Dressing up with unique outfits is always a time to be creative for each theme. This year, there was a different theme for each grade level to match the spirit week. Students and staff all participate during this week to have fun together and also get ready for the big homecoming game.

Dancing the Night Away

By: Emily Salomon

Homecoming is the first dance of the school year which makes the night special. Students at the school all get to spend the night dancing with each other and having a time to remember. Creating memories with your friends is something you'll forever remember and that is why homecoming is an amazing time. Dressing up, taking pictures, and dancing the night away is a great way to spend a Saturday night.

GRaPhiC DESiGN IS MY PASSION

BY: LARA PEYTON, BARBARA NIELD, AND ALLISON SUAREZ

Graphic design, the only class you can edit an ostrich, worm, lizard hybrid with acrylic nails, and print it on a t-shirt. Although it sounds like silly work, graphic design can be hard and serious work:

"Do I think graphic designs inspires a form of creativity in students? Yes I do I think it inspires students to think outside of the box and create something meaningful to you and make it special." Ethan Kats, Junior

THE ROOKIES. The graphic design students use their first year of graphic design to build up their skills,. From simple projects to printing their own designs these new graphic designers have to learn hands on. Coming into this class usually students have little to no knowledge of the programs and graphic design as a whole. There are many programs that are used in the making of graphics and banners, such as Photoshop, Illustrator, and Character Animate. Students have to learn how to navigate and use each one. Design and digital art however isn't something you master overnight, it takes years of hard work.

"Well over the year I feel like I've improved on a creative level and on a marketing level. I feel that now I am better prepared for the workplace and my entrepreneurial goals." Hunter Rohweder, Senior

THE APPRENTICES. Now with more knowledge and experience students transition to designing logos, banners, stickers, and more. Unlike first years, who spend the majority of class learning and perfecting digital programs, this is the year where they put their skills to the test, where they have advanced their capabilities past turning themselves into zombies on Photoshop into learning new intermediate skills like animation on Character Animate. This "Red Devil" graphic was created by Barabara Nield (12) with Illustrator to feature on school merchandise, she used lining and shading techniques that she integrated in from her own art background.

"Having real world clients allowed me to experience the reality of business. As a high school student, I was able to work through real world situations and I can now apply my knowledge to my future job, as a UX Designer." Christina Vandenoever, Senior

THE MASTERS.These are the experts of graphic design, many have been in the class for all four years. They do it all school graphics, logos, banners, and most importantly real world projects. Paying clients, set deadlines, and usually last minute projects, these students must take on a new type of responsibility that isn't just concerning clients and deadlines. Third and fourth year graphic design students have to deal with expensive equipment and tools. Although they might look like they're having fun, horse play isn't tolerated. This movie poster was made by Matt Kiszenia (12) for the Red Devil Friday Show debut Halloween movie "Frankenstein vs... the Wolfman" which it was later signed by the cast.

Team Work Makes the Dream Work

There are over 1,050,000 men and women enlisted in the US military today; for many, it all started in Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps (JROTC). JROTC is not only a class that teaches strict discipline, fitness, and history, it's also a family. The students are dedicated, supportive, and enthusiastic as they learn how to become the best versions of themselves. They learn about the history of JROTC. JROTC can prepare you for the military by teaching you how to stand at attention, showing how to wear the uniform right and more. They have Physical Training days where they go outside and play different types of games. But in the end, JROTC can benefit you for the best.

2019-2020 Yearbook Team

Another year passes by and fresh new faces fill the yearbook team. Our team this year has developed their skills to provide us all with the book of our dreams. Each page is highlighted to their liking and is filled with pictures and the faces that make up our student body. Without this team of stupendous students, the yearly book of memories we know and love wouldn't be possible. Even though each year the book and the people behind it change, up until this year, I don't think I have seen a more in sync class before.

BEHIND THE BOOK

Emily Saloman

What inspires how you dress?
I look at Pinterest posts for outfit ideas, and am inspired by the different fashion ideas that are posted.
What is your favorite article of clothing in your wardrobe?
My favorite article would be the sweaters I have because you can dress them up with accessories or you can wear them as a casual outfit.

ADMINISTRATION

Mrs. Richards

What inspires how you dress?
I am an avid shopper, so I watch trends. I also keep an eye on the styles of people around me because imitation is the highest form of flattery!
What is your favorite article of clothing in your wardrobe?
Currently, it is my polka dot Michael Kors puffy vest or my cheetah booties by Lucky.

Tiffani Martin

What inspires how you dress?
My sister is a huge inspiration to my fashion sense. She always has the cutest outfits, and that gives me inspiration to dress in a unique way. I also look to the older decades, such as the 80s and 90s, for my outfits. I love the way they dressed back then!
What is your favorite article of clothing in your wardrobe?
Currently, my favorite article of clothing is a pair of vintage white boots.

JUNIOR

What inspires how you dress?
Fashion and comfort

What is your favorite article of clothing in your wardrobe?
Anything comfortable and cute.

Is there anything else you want to tell us about you?
My favorite color is purple and I like sports!

Carlos Vasquez
What inspires how you dress?
The people I see on Instagram.

What is your favorite article of clothing in your wardrobe?
My favorite piece in my wardrobe would have to be my letterman's jacket because I get to represent the school.

Jason Palika
What inspires how you dress?
I see other people always in almost the same stuff. Whatever is trending that's what the majority is wearing it seems like. It's not a problem at all people have the right to wear whatever they feel like to express themselves, my style has just always been whatever is comfortable and whatever I have which wasn't always so fancy or apart of the trends. This year I wanted to change it up and stand out but not be like everyone wearing the same clothes that's the new trend. So I made a mix of whatever I had at home and whatever was the current trend. I did my best to make outfits that were unique in my own way with a splash of whatever the trends are. I didn't go spend loads of money on a whole new wardrobe, just a few new things to help change it up and add a little flare.
What is your favorite article of clothing in your wardrobe?
My favorite article of clothing in my wardrobe would probably have to be my jorts. Almost anything can go with them whether it's a stylish shirt or just a hoodie.

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Gianotti
What inspires how you dress?
I'd say, more than anything, GQ Magazine. I'm very driven by labels. My attitude toward fashion is antithetical toward my attitude about other things. I would usually look down on commodity fetishism. For example, I don't really care about cars or things or even money, but when it comes to clothes, I'm very stuck up. So, if the label isn't right, I won't wear it. You won't catch me in Express, or regular jeans, or ? I had to stop here because I can't even name cheap brands of clothes. I know there are stores called Walmart and JC Penny, but I've never been to them, and I don't know how to find where they're at. Current brands that you might catch me in include Penguin, Bonobos, Calvin Klein, Brooks Brothers, Burberry, Theory, or Band of Outsiders. I'm also a huge fan of Adidas shoes. Brands that I wish I could wear but I can afford include Etro, Hugo Boss, and Savatore Ferigamo. J Crew is my base, so I often will have something on from there.
What is your favorite article of clothing in your wardrobe?
That's impossible to answer because I probably own the most expensive wardrobe of any man in my tax bracket in the United States of America. The Crown Jewel of my wardrobe is definitely a Burberry toggled winter coat. For the past few years, I've really been into Vintage Penguin sweaters and polos. I have an extensive collection of Original Rod Laver Adidas tennis shoes. All of my socks are made with Fine Egyptian cotton.

JUNIOR

Ethan Hernandez
What inspires how you dress?
I just like to be my own person. Also I have always gone by "look good, feel good!"
What is your favorite article of clothing in your wardrobe?
I really like all of my flannels they give off a great fall vibe.

Track or Treat

As Halloween creeps around the corner, so does Lowell High School's 6th anniversary of Track or Treat. Track or Treat is an annual event presented by all of Lowell high school athletic teams. On October 30th the town of Lowell gathers at the high school to experience all the fun games, face painting, music and much more! All proceeds will benefit Special Olympics, the Lowell L club, and scholarships.

"Listening to the symphony was an unforgettable experience. The venue was breath taking.
-Lauren Wilhiams

"My favorite part of the St. Louis trip was the City Museums. It was very interactive and hands-on.
-Draven Martin

"The trip to St. Louis was by far the best cultural crawl so far. There were numerous activities for everyone to enjoy. My favorite was the City Mouseum.
-Christina Vandenoever

"The trip to Washington University was amazing for me. It added another college to my application list."
-Haley Alexander

THE GATEWAY TO THE WEST

Each year Mr.Gianotti puts together a trip for the academic teams and honors students. Over the years the trip has morphed into what many of the students call as the culture crawl. This years culture crawl was to St. Louis. In St. Louis the students got to visit Washington University, The St. Louis Zoo, The City Mesuem, and more. The students ended the trip by stopping at the The Arch and the Wesward Expanssion Museum.

"Scheduling these trips and keeping costs down is a lot of work, and sometimes I do wonder why I do it. But I became a teacher because I'm committed to education and I like learning. Plus, I love LHS, and I truly believe we learn a tremendous amount on the culture crawls that can't be replicated within a regular school day.

Ending on an Innocent Note

By: Olivia Stefoski and Lauren Williams

Through the ups and a downs of a trial, the emotions and facts poured into the verdict, 12 Angry Jurors find a 19 year old boy innocent of the murder of his father. A very different production than has been put on in the past with no costume or setting changes Mrs. Martin and Mr. Greene took a leap of faith in their students and audience. "It was difficult to keep the audience captivated because there wasn't any scene changes or costume changes and we had to work extra hard to show emotion through our voices and our actions." -Blake DeValk (12)

Q: "What has been your favorite part so far?"
A: "Seeing all the students come together and become a family. Between the cast and the crew there has been a lot of good synergy. That synergy has just evolved into good production on the stage."

Q: "What was the biggest setback of this production?"
A: "There wasn't many, it was only difficult because we had many deadlines to meet. We had to make 15 chairs from scratch, but through all of this we had to remember that the greatness of our pain leads to the greatness of our success."

Q: "What are you most looking forward to for the Spring musical?"
A: "Carrying over this energy from the fall play because we had a lot of solid technique and it really showed to the audience."

Pep talk 1.) Mr. Greene chats with his cast and crew about opening night jitters before they go on.

Behind The Scenes 2.) The handmade set under the lights during intermission

Senior Spotlight

Blake Devalk (12) performed a strong role in his last play at Lowell High School. Ending on a very high note, Blake played the angry antagonist in the Fall Play. Like any production, this play went through the ups and downs, but according to Blake, "The first time that we ran through the entire show without the script really showed progress and that we were prepared for the performances." He has been through 4 plays and 3 musicals so far, and has put so much time and effort into each role that he has played.

3.) Senior, Emma Kharchaf, preps junior John Yelkich for the play's Thursday debut!

4.) Senior, AJ Clifford, testing the lights for Friday's show.

5.) The construction crew makes some last minute touch-ups to perfect the set!

The cast taking a vote during their performance, coming out perfectly even!

Makeup Check 6.) The girls of the show beam right before stage time.

Dropping all the pre-show stress, some cast members do a quick run through of lines.

Break a Leg: As a pre-performance ritual the theater department gets together for 'Break a Leg', which is a series of vocal exercises to prep for the big show. There's also a special shoutout on the last day to shine light on someone who's gone above and beyond in making this production better than the last. Lillian Wilson recieved that honor for this year's play!

Reach For the Sky

Anai Bennett (9), Autumn sample (11), Samantha Rossman (12), Natalie Peters (11), and Makenna Marcinek (11) practice their jumps.

Riles, flags, sabers, and air blades

color guards use flags, sabres, rifles, batons, airblades, and a few other pieces of equipment to do their performances preparing to spin the flag

SPINNING FOR JOY

BY: JAILA JADE

What do people think when they think of the color guard? They think of flags but it is not only flags. Color guard is an athletic team that accentuates parts of their bodies through dance. They interpret the music of the marching band. They use different kinds of equipment such as riles, flags, sabers, and air blades. They work very hard every day to show how complex and outstanding their performances are. The long drawn practices, the choreography, and the long nights shows their true dedication to this sport. Color guard shows their spirit and passion at pep rallies and home football games by pumping up the crowd. But overall, they show good leadership skills and mastery when it comes to being a color guard member.

2: Leaping or dancing with joy
Jacquelyn Mitchell (11) and Sarah Wente (11) catches their saber while they are preforming.

1: Warming up
Samantha Rossman (12), Autumn sample (11), Makalyn Partick (8), and Sophia Sarafim(9) warm up before the competition.

3: Smile Everyone
Everyone on the guard team smiles for a picture after they performed.

4: All Hands In
Every color guard member put there hands in for a picture after they competed

Ready Set Jump

Natalie Peters (11), Samantha Rossman (12), and Makenna Marcinek (11) practice their jumps.

Samantha Rossman (12) helps Jenna Salyers (10) stretch before they practice their routine .

Sarah Wente (11) jumps into the air and catches her saber while the band perform behind her.

Makalyn Partick (8) get ready to do her part of the routine for the show that she is going to perform.

Senior Shout Outs

When I ask Courtney Why do you love color guard this is what she had to say " Its been part of my life since freshman year and its a really good group of people to work with even though we kick each other butts sometimes we're y'all are a big family and we still love each other "

Courtney Allen (12)

When I asked Sam Whats the best part about being in color guard he said " The people who are in it because we all treat each other like family and I like how open we are with each other"

Sam Lange (12)

When I asked Samantha What do you think color guard means to you she said " Being a family and performing and just being yourself. "

Samantha Rossman (12)

When I asked Candice If she would continue color guard after high school she said "Yes, i'm going to a collage that does color guard."

Marching Foward

By: Kyalee Sands

Picture it now; the sound of plucked strings, pounding drums, and air blowing through tubes all coming together. You might have pictured music, but never quite realized how much of a puzzle it is until you saw them listed out. Now, realize it's the job of a small group of people to put those pieces together. The school's marching band, led by directer John Flodder, has been putting together the most beautiful puzzles for multiple years now. Cleaning up at not only several competitions, but even cleaning up at state competitions. The band is a close knit group, understanding and picking up on each other's strengths and weaknesses on their journey to become the best that they can be. The band performs countless times throughout each school year, so show up to at least one and make sure to listen in. All of their hard work and dedication makes it worth the time.

(1) Standing Tall: Our Lowell High School 2019 Marching Band gets together one last time to remember the good times throughout the season. They never fail to keep a smile on their face.
(2) The Friendships Within: These three seniors smile on a bright day right before one of their competitions. Friendships within the band only bring friends closer.
(3) Percussionists Unite: Taylor(11) and Max(9) put on their game faces right before a performance. The two percussionists never fail to put in their best effort to a performance.
(4) Playing the Field: A clarinet and mellophone player take the field, stopping before making their way to their next set to play. The two might of been under pressure, but so was the rest of the band.
(5) Dancing to the Beat of the Drum: The percussionists get ready and practice right before walking onto the performance field. They made sure to keep the beat the entire time.
(6) "Running" in time: During this set of the performance, the performers run to their spots. They had to make it there on time for everything to fall into place.
(7) Singular Saxophone: One of our Marching Band Saxophonists performs on the field during one of their infamous football game half time performances.

Senior Spotlights

"I'll miss a lot of things about Mr. Flodder, but the number one thing I'll miss is his positive attitude. He always brought a good mood to the band when we were having a bad day."
- Logan Mitchell

"One thing I will miss about marching band is the feeling of community there." - Hannah Gaertner

"The thing that I'll miss most about marching band is the feeling of putting something really cool onto the field and working with everyone to make something great." - Brianna Hesse

"One thing that I will miss about marching band is the community. Everyone grows so close and by the end of the season, we're pretty much a family. I'm going to miss the people I've been marching with since the beginning." - Natalie Kotlin.

"One thing I'll miss about band is the family we have created."
-Lori Hawk

"I'm going to miss my whole band family, it's so much different from any kind of bond and it is something I will remember forever." - Emma Carrillo

"One thing that I am going to miss about marching band is meeting new people every season and getting to know people I would have never met outside of marching band." - Lily French

"One thing that I am going to miss about marching band is all of the memories that I have and the band family that I have made all throughout this high school career"- Melanie Dudley

"I'll miss a lot of things about Mr. Flodder, but the number one thing I'll miss is his positive attitude. He always brought a good mood to the band, even when we were having a bad day"

"Honestly, I'm going to miss everything about marching band: after a while, it all becomes natural, and you look forward to everything about it." - Will Gerstenkorn

"One thing I'm going to miss about marching band- I'm going to miss the friendships, yeah everyone in high school had cliques and such but when we're in band it all just kind of melts away and juist turns into common ground."

"I'm definitely going to miss working with the people, all the students and staff were amazing and it was fun working towards a common goal." - Breanne Gatlin

"One thing im going to miss about marching band is the performance and the thrill of playing with a bunch of people." - Mary Kate

KEEPING SPIRITS HIGH

By: Itzel Santos

The Lowell High Cheerleading Squad had a transition year this season. After losing 5 of last year's seniors, they welcomed 6 eager, ready to learn freshman. With underclassmen making up about 90% of the team, there was a lot of getting situated to be done.

Over the summer they went to UCA Purdue Summer Camp, and where they bonded and became like family. "After UCA Camp, we all came back filled with ambition and confidence. The family aspect in our team definitely grew, as well as our want to succeed." said sophomore cheerleader, Megan Brandon.They had a number of setbacks throughout the season, but they pushed through and came in first at their opening competition.

Not only do they compete, but they also are at every single football game on the sidelines cheering them to victory. Rain or shine, they are dedicated to showing their school spirit and hyping up the crowd while making the whole environment a positive one. Overall, our Cheerleaders are dedicated and proud to represent Red Devil Pride.

NICOLE'S SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

What's your favorite sideline cheer?

Go Big Red

What have you learned since joining the cheer team?

That everyone has their differences but in order to succeed you have to come together and put aside everything else. We're in this together, and nothing will change that.

A Competition Day Necessity?

Definitely a blanket, we leave really early in the morning.

1. So Senior: Nicole Borowski (12) poses at one of her last home football games, reminiscing about her last four years. 2. Stunt Time: Varsity Cheer land their stunts at the Homecoming Pep Rally. Way to go girls! 3. Pretty in Pink: Varsity Cheerleaders pose for a team picture during their summer camp. Team bonding was a big part of this trip!

4. Competition Champs: Antonia Barraza (10), Ashlee Belcher (9), Nicole Borowski (12), Rozzlin Galvan (9) and Alexandra Valentine (9) pose with their first place medals. Great Job! 5. Practice Makes Perfect: Alexis Lee (9) makes sure land all her stunts so she's competition ready! 6. Sideline Stars: The girls support the football team by cheering them on from the sidelines!

ATHLETIC TRAINING

the team behind the teams!

By: Itzel Santos

If you've ever been to a Lowell sporting event, then you've had to have seen students dressed in khaki pants and a black polo. Those are your Fall Student Athletic Trainers. Head trainers, Baldo and Eleanor, take most of the summer to teach them how to efficiently tape, stretch and tend to athletes. Trainers run all the behind scenes activities at games and practices. They make sure athletes are stretched and taped before practice, water is supplied during practice and everything is cleaned up after. Student trainers are the first ones there before practice and games and the last ones to leave. This year's student trainers are some of the best! They make the best Gatorade and take charge during tense situations.

So Senior!: Senior Student Trainers Itzel Santos and Jessica Breault pose with their senior gifts and team as their final season comes to a close.

BIZZARE FINDS

Inside the training room, you can find the most bizarre things: from a Gatorade cooler coil pot to a rainbow supply of towels, the possibilities are endless. Probably the most bizarre is an almost 40-pound ball made entirely of tape. No one really knows when it started, but what we do know is that the names of every student trainer for the past 5 years are in that ball. It is now tradition for trainers to write their names and the season they participated in then wrap it around the ball. In a couple of days it will be completely covered, but the memory of putting it there will never be gone. A season's worth of memories will be remembered when looking at the ball. Being a trainer comes with a lot of weird traditions, but this is definitely a highlight.

Devils, Devils, what do you say?

Toss to victory: Quarterback Cameron Stojancevich (11).

By Kathryn Dennis and Skylar Rambeaux

This year the LHS football team started off their 2019 season with a bang as they defeated our rival Crown Point. The team kept the leather helmet, and celebrated their victory. Of course, while there has been many ups and downs in the season, the boys of Lowell High continue to show a tremendous amount of teamwork, resilience, and most importantly of all, how to come together and become a family. The team continued their successful year as they defeated Kankakee Valley with a score of 21-14 keeping the rivals milk jug. The boys have shown their passion on the field week after week and have made their way up to the playoffs for sectionals for 2019 against Gary Westside. While they faced the Westside, they come out on top to defeat their opponents with a roaring score of 63-0. After conquering the Westside the Lowell Devils continued to the second round of sectionals against the Hobart Brickies. The boys fought hard but, unfortunately the Brickies came out on top for this one. The final score was 20-0 so that wrapped up the season for the Lowell Red Devils. While the season came to a close, the memories will last a lifetime and the brotherhood will live on.

Butting Heads: The Lowell Red Devils take on the Griffith Panthers at the Inferno defeating them with a final score of 42-28.

Pride and passion: Jeff Wallis (12), John Alessia (12), celebrate their victory against Kankakee Valley.

Lowell Girls Volleyball

By:Skylar Lewis and Lilly Biancardi

Six players on the court, the ball is up in the air, each player is down and ready for the ball to cross the net. Our 2019 Volleyball team has come together on the court, every single game to play their hearts out. Each girl on the team has an insane amount of dedication that they put into this family. Before each and every game these young women get hyped up to play by "jamming out" to music. "It's not all about you, it's a team effort. Even if you don't always get along, remember that you are a team and you need to work together to get things done". Frances Knaul (12). Even through the rough times that the team may encounter, the girls on the Volleyball team at Lowell High School never fail to stay positive.

SENIOR STARS

Devils on Three...

Before every race, the girls huddle in a circle to do their meetly routine of screaming their chant for everyone to hear!

Striding to Success

By: Jazmin Grund

The Lady Red Devil Cross Country runners had an extravagant season. These girls truly know what it's like to call each other family! Their bond is like a rock and can be seen in the many things such as team meals, get together's, and traditions this team shares. New additions to the team this year brought fresh faces to this groups dynamic and also new times to their season! Each meet these girls have competed in shows their true hard work and dedication towards each other! Without their ongoing perseverance on the team, these girls wouldn't have people to fall back on. Running is a difficult sport and without people around you to support you and persuade you like our Lady Running Red Devils do, the team wouldn't be as strong as they are to this day!

Senior Night

All the seniors get together with their gifts to capture moments of their last year as a team, while the coaches and team grandpa join them! There's nothing better than ending the year with a great race at our Bob Thomas Invite.

Wins Sectional Title.

Karina James (10), Reilly Boyer (9), Jazmin Grund (12), Brooke Hayden (12), Megan Kaczur (11), Olivia Decker (9) and Alexia Bibakis (12) are lined up and ready to start their race at Sectionals in Hebron. The cold and wind did not stop them from winning the sectional title

Forever a Team

The girls take each others hands as they walk to the start of the course together at the New Prairie Invite, where they had finished strong as a team

Senior Spotlight

Anna Kampe

What's your favorite part about being on the xc team?
"My favorite part about being on the xc team is how close all the girls are. We always motivate each other, and go to each other for anything and everything."

What motivates you?
"My coaches motivate me everyday. They make sure I'm feeling 100% each day and make sure I am the best I can be. All the girls I run with everyday keep moving me forward as well."

Do you have any advice for underclassmen?
"Never give up. During a hot meet day, or sweaty practice, you may want to stop, leave and quit. Don't. You never know how far you can achieve when you give it all. Give every meet 110%, make every practice like it's your last, and make sure to love and support everyone on the amazing cross country team."

State Champions

1. State Tree- When most teams make it to state, they can take the opportunity to throw their old spikes/trainers onto the tree. It's a fun tradition the team is happy to carry on, as future runners will hopefully continue to follow

2. Making History- The Lady Red Devils kick off their cross country season starting at the state course in Terre Haute, which they later attended for state later that year. This marks the fourth straight year the Lowell girls have made their way to state, making this the longest streak in school history.

RDXC

Forever

By: Daphne Edmondson

The boys cross country running red devils started their season off with a dub. The season brought the team many challenges such as a period of injuries for some of the boys causing the rest of the team to step up and lead. This team has a very family like atmosphere seen in their team meals, meets, and get together's. The season was filled with an abundance of hard work and dedication from these boys that continues to shape their love for the sport and each other as teammates. Without each other to encourage and persuade the utmost performance, these boys wouldn't have the family they have known to love from this season. They say though it might be hard, it all works out in the end. From first meets to final miles, State and sectionals seems like a blur as they look back on the lengthy season they had. When looking at this team first glance, you see a group of young men, but behind this looking in deeper, we can see that they step up to their challenges and always and forever will do it together until their last run with the team.

4) Pace Maker- Keeping his pace trong, Corey Orgodowski (12) starts of his race with a bang!
5) Better Together- A couple of the LHS XC teammates stay together as the start of their at home race.
6) Screaming for Score's- A couple of anagers and fans of the LHS XC team ose and cheer for their school on the sidelines
7) Huge Hugs- After a very hard race for sophomore Joshua Reck, a hug breaks out between him and a fellow friend on an opposing team.
8) Running Red Devils- A close race eeps these two teammates near each other and the finish!
) Tic Tok- Gabriel Sanchez (12) checks his time as he finishes one of his first races of the season. Gabriel ran for Lowell High School at State and took irst place after a long and dedicated 4 seasons to the team!

Senior Spotlight

Dominik Fosco

What's your favorite part about being on the cross country team?
"Definitely the team and Coach Rakoczy because there wouldn't be a point in going unless I didn't like all of them, we do have our ups and downs, but we're like brothers so it's worth it. It's just a great environment."

What motivates you?
"I have been doing this for so long and something clicked this year. To not do running for the few days I couldn't last season, I felt my actual passion for running. So the team definitely motivates me."

Do you have any advice for underclassmen?
"I would say just stick with it, even when its hard, if you can do it once you can do it again. Take care of yourself, make sure to stretch. If you do get injured let Coach know."

The Swing of Things

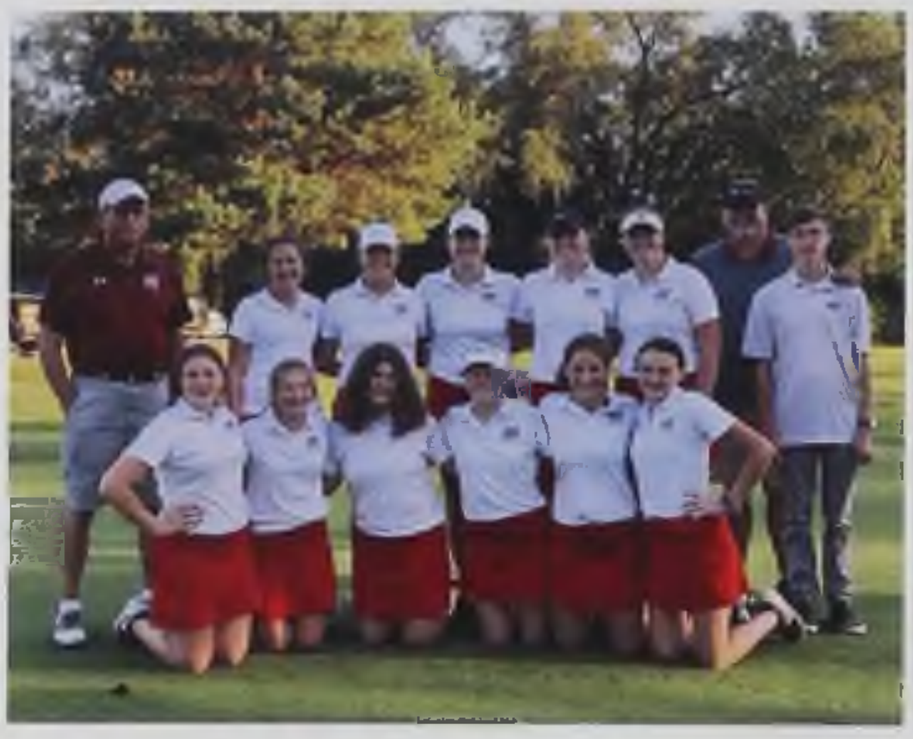
The Lowell Lady Red Devils Golf Team had outstanding freshman this season. They should be in store for a very strong, well rounded team next year. Seniors Cammie, Tori and Tanner were a huge contribution and amazing assets to the team. Them leaving will take a huge toll, but they've taught the underclassmen great things.



The girls golf team takes a family photo after a successful golf outing.

Team Meal: Good food, great team!

Just hanging out after a long practice!

"I am very proud of our team and how far we have come this year. There is so much talent throughout our team and I have no doubt they will be able to fill the senior shoes. I'm very excited to see what they'll accomplish next year." - Tanner(12)

"I think we had a great improving season this year and I think that over the summer if we put in hard work we can be very successful and potentially win sectionals. We also had a great time and season with the guys and we hope to always get better."-Kyle Mead Grade 11

The boys' head coach, Dustin Hudak, was extremely proud of his teams' effort this year. He says the boys worked hard and had a positive outlook and mindset. The boys fought a tough battle this season but did end up losing sectionals 0-5 to Crown Point. They improved their record by four wins from the previous year and set themselves up for a great season next year.

A NEW DECADE

WELCOMING OUR NEXT GENERATION OF TEACHERS

"Be engaged to learn, equipped to achieve and be empowered to succeed. Its a great day to be a Red Devil." PRINCIPAL PATRICK

RDP PRIDE!. While LHS had to say goodbye to Principal Pavell at the end of the 2018-2019 school year after 6 years of hard work and dedication, this year we welcomed Principal Patrick to LHS for a new era, and her door is always open. When asked what kinds of changes she wanted to make to improve LHS, she said: "I am really interested in hearing from teachers and students on suggestions that they have to make LHS the best place possible." If she looks and sounds familiar, its because she initially came to LHS last year as one of our assistant principals and when the position opened up, she had a vision and knew she wanted to "continue to make a difference and serve the community where I live."Aside from loving the positive atmosphere our staff and students have created, she looks forward to "building upon the plethora of opportunities already available to kids." Graduate of Purdue West Lafayette and Ball State, devoted mother of three, avid Amazon shopper and blazer collector (she has roughly 95 blazers), Principal Patrick is just like the rest of us: proud to be a Red Devil! We look forward to the many years and changes that will follow.

MS SLOUGH

ASSISANT PRINCIPAL

YOU HEARD HER, GET TO CLASS. We have not only gained a new principal but two new assistant principals as well, the first one to be introduced is Mrs.Slough! Former LHS student coming back to the nest, she discovered her "natural desire to lead and solve problems" and there is no one better than having someone as passionate and ambitious as her. Slow walkers beware! While Mrs.Slough understands the need to want to talk to your friends in the halls before class, one of her pet peeves is tardiness She says "I would like to encourage students to get to class on time. being on time and ready for class is so important and it is not that difficult to do!" Outside of school, she enjoys exercise and listening to punk rock and metal music. We are super excited to welcome back our former Red Devil and are intrigued to see what she undoubtedly influences in the future!

MR BECICH

ASSISANT PRINCIPAL

THE (NON)HOODED HERO. Our second new assistant principal is Mr.Becich! After hearing about Lowell's dedication to the wellbeing of the students here at LHS, Becich was intrigued. What is his favorite thing about LHS so far? The strong and supportive community. He says, "from academics, athletics and a wide variety of school events, there are always people from the community and school who are there to support the students, staff, and past students really care for each other and the school." If you've seen him in the halls or the cafeteria, you know he has got nothing but kind things to say, however one of his pet peeves is the number of times he has to ask students to take off their hoods. When he isn't at school, he is at home spending time with his family, listening to sports radio and cheering on the Bears and Cubs. Get to class, take off your hoods and thrive to be the best Red Devil you can undoubtedly be because our new assistant principals want nothing but the best for LHS.

FAVORITE CANDY:
Snickers, Milky Way, Twix, you name it.

MISS RIVERA

CERAMICS AND 3D ART

SEIZE THE CLAY. Painting, drawing, sewing, sculpting, building– you name it, Ms.Rivera can make it. As an artist herself, she realized her love for the fine arts in her own high school art room and wanted to inspire a new generation of prospective students to experience the same passion. While art is innovative, creative, and allows for infinite ways for one to express themselves, don't be fooled, there is a lot of responsibility in the arts. She will expect you to not only excel in creativity but maturity as well

MR GREENE

CHOIR

JUST B' NATURAL. Occupying the position of someone who filled the halls with harmony and positivity for nine years was always going to be a tough fear, but Mr Greene has made the swap almost seamless. For Mr. Greene, music has lifted him up in many ways, and like many teachers, he wanted to help extend that joy he has found from music to others. While some people may expect a teacher to be reserved and reluctant to share, Mr.Greene's favorite part about teaching is the exact opposite: getting to know his students and the community. From being responsible for shutting down Disney World at the age of four to having a mouse infestation at his house, Mr. Greene is ready to refill the halls with music again

FAVORITE CANDY:
Salami. Salami is like candy to me

FAVORITE SPORT:

MS LAFLETCH

BUSINESS

MAKING THOSE STAR(WARS) BUCKS: Sometimes the best way of learning something is doing it first-hand and Ms. LaFletch is definite proof of that. Before she decided to come teach "Business Marketing Entrepreneurship" to the young padawans of LHS, she was a District Manager at Starbucks for 13 years. Having all that experience and knowledge, there is no one you can trust more to help you be a master of business marketing. From running a dog collar and t-shirt business to spending time with her husband and three dogs, Ms. LaFletch is a dedicated Star Wars geek and she is taking Yoda's "Always pass on what you have learned" to the heart.

MS HEINTZ

MATH

IT'S ALL ADDING UP. Math is not an easy subject, to teach or to learn, but Mrs.Heintz is here to ease all your tormented souls. Motivated by her love of math and encouraged by the warm and welcoming environment provided by our very own LHS staff and students, Mrs. Heintz is ready to bring the love of math back to LHS

MISS MOLDEN

ANIMAL SCIENCE

DEJA MOO. No, you're not going utterly crazy, we have a new animal science teacher! Our very own LHS graduate has returned to spread her passion for animals, agriculture and agribusiness management back to current students. Aside from animals, her passion and support are always with her students. If there is one thing, she wants you to learn above all, it's that she "will always support them and my classroom is a safe space." As kind and supportive as she is, her two biggest pet peeve are when people talk when she is talking and when students are unkind to one another. When she isn't teaching, she's spending time with her beloved pets: Paisley & Penny (dogs), Georgia (cat), and Salem (rabbit), crafting and traveling with her boyfriend.she isn't teaching, she's spending time with her beloved pets: Paisley & Penny (dogs), Georgia (cat), and Salem (rabbit), crafting and traveling with her boyfriend.

MRS HOUSER

GUIDANCE COUNSELOR

GUIDING THE MASSES. If you're new to the district or even the state this year, you and Mrs.Houser have something in common! With almost 10 years of school counseling in Illinois under her belt, Mrs.Houser decided to bring her warm and bubbly personality to LHS. Her love doesn't just extend to her students, but to Red Vines and Beyonce and Indiana Jones. You'll find nothing but unconditional support when you step into her office because she is on a genuine mission to help and "assist students on their self-discovery journey"

FAVORITE CANDY:

MRS ARD

SPEECH AND LANGUAGE THERAPY

REPEAT AFTER ME. Phonics, Articulation, Fluency are all key terms in the art of speech and language, something that Mrs.Ard is very well versed in. Having gone to a speech therapist as a child, she loved the memories and skills she gained and decided to give students the same fun and engaging experience she had while also demonstrating why communication is a necessary skill as an adult. No matter who you are, you'll certainly find your voice around her.

MS PHILBIN

CAREER COORDINATOR

ON THE JOB. Don't know what opportunities are waiting for you? Well Mrs.Philbin is the one to ask. As the Career Coordinator for the Southlake Career Cooperative, she deals with all the CTE programs (Radio & TV, Graphic Design, Animal Science, Agriculture, Welding etc..) and helps navigate students into finding the right career opiton based on her own hands-on experience and knowledge. One of the things she wants students to know is that there are so many sucessful career opportunities that don't require years of post-education or being thousands of dollars in debt. Don't forget to check out the CTE co-op Newsletter in your inbox for more information on the CTE Programs.

FAVORITE TV SHOW:

MR WESTER

AUTO SHOP

FUEL THE PASSION. Thinking about having a future in automotive technology? In that case, Mr.Wester is the teacher for you! His passion and satisfaction he gets from repairing something have fueled his career of being an automotive technician for 25 years and an automotive instructor for three and is something he no longer want sot keep to himself anymore. His favorite part about teaching is not only being able to extend his knowledge and lifelong passion, but to watch students gain new skills and mature over the course of his class. He's completed a couple of laps around the track and has picked up a few tips and tricks and now he's ready to let some Red Devils in on the race

RDP RADIO

It's an undeniable fact that RDP radio has seen some of the most exponential growth of any recently founded LHS program. They began recording in the closet with only a vague understanding of things like "sweepers" and "stingers",but have grown and grown from a little sapling into the tallest tree in their parent company, Region Radio's forest. Now they have a room in the RTV complex modified for their own exclusive use, and despite many roadblocks placed their way, they have never given up and they now stand as one of the most successful programs at LHS.

HYPING THE TEAM.

The players may be the ones competing, and the coaches may be the ones who teach them the plays and the techniques, but it is the honorary coaches that provide a service no trainer can perform; for how can an athlete do their best when they feel they cannot? The coach can try as they might to inspire them, but at that point its like a glass of water in midst of a flood. That is where the honorary coaches, teachers the students look up to that they choose, to step in and inspire the all stars to help them achieve victory!

Meet the coaches

An interview with honorary coach Mike McLindon

Talking with Honor

We sat down with Honorary Coach Mike McLindon to find out some of what goes in to this important role.

Look at me! Mr. Mike McLindon boasts about how his quote made it onto a t-shirt, a trait unique to him and no other honorary coaches.

According to McLindon, being the honorary coach truly is a title worth of its name. An honorary coach spends their week after school at the football practices, encouraging the players to try their best. Then, during the dinner before the final game of the week, it is their duty to deliver a rousing speech to the athletes. Mike McLindon's was considered especially rousing by the all-stars because they pushed to have one of hid quotes printed on a T-Shirt.

"I think it's a testament to the teachers of this school that they're willing to give up their time for the students, not just as honorary coaches, but for all activities they support,"

The Call of the Wild

A new class that began just one year ago is Animal Science. Some may not think of it as a true science class here at LHS, but you can learn skills here that can help you for life as not only a zoologist, but maybe a farmer, or even a simple pet owner. In this class, students learn about animal anatomy, behavior, and care, guided by a brand new teacher, not just to the school but the industry itself. She promises to bring all new ideas and concepts to the course that was taught last year, as well as its new counterpart, Advanced Animal Science.

TURNABOUT

Turnabout is a staple of dance culture. In the cold of winter, the second to last dance of the year kicks off with its traditions before it even begins, with young women asking young men out to the festivities. The dance is more semi-casual then the prom, but holds just as much significance in the hearts of the students who attend. While the weather around this time of year is icy, Turnabout dances are known to melt even the most frozen of hearts.

RED DEVIL RACING EV GRAND PRIX

The Red Devil Racing club, better known as the EV Grand Prix club, is an extracurricular that challenges its members to test their engineering mettle by building a racing cart from nearly scratch. Led by the Computer Networking teacher Mr. Sheets, students learn a variety of skills about mechanics, craftsmanship, and following (or sometimes, finding loopholes in) the official rules for the race down in Indianapolis in the spring.

The Whole Shebang
This year's cart (red) as it's in the middle of construction, by the one from last year (blue)

Cart Construction
Students work on small parts of the cart at a time to eventually create a working racing vehicle for the competition.

Gearing up
Each intricate part of the cart is as important as the large ones, so a lot of time goes into making sure everything is working at top capacity.

The Boys in Red and Black

Tucked away in the farthest corner of the tech wing is the Criminal Justice classroom. Entering into this room shows a place dedicated to giving practical experience to the future defenders of American law. The class features many amenities that allow them to simulate proper police work. The class goes over possible scenarios on at least a weekly basis, simulated by volunteers. They also have full permission to give out parking tickets in the school's lot, so make sure you figure out how parallel parking works!

ARRESTED! Mr.Conover allows Garret to put him in handcuffs to allow

OH NO!A mysterious figure looms...can the class stop it! The scenarios are prove incredibly fun.

SHINY! The cass also has a number of professional grade reflective jackets and rain coats.

Access Granted

Tri-Creek Education Foundation eightieth annual grant competition awarded over $15,000 due to the generous donation from the community and the successful annual labor Day 5K run/walk. Twelve grants were given this year by Lynne Haberlin, the foundation director and chair person of the committee. The twelve grants make an impact in all five Tri-Creek Schools. These grants were awarded to the Tri-Creek Members On Novemeber 15th, 2019.

Grants were awarded to Jennifer Roberts to use in the oppertunity center, Matt Mclindon to use in the RDN, Then, Now, and Forever project, Kevin Garling for the AG Green Machine, and Amanda Czyszczon to the Be Here Tomorrow project. In total the high school received over $6,500 in grants.

The following teachers received grants for Lowell Middle School... Melissa Duttweiler and social worker Traci Noble, principal Michelle Hellewege, teacher Lindsay Prenkert.

The following teachers received grants for Tri-Crek Elementry Schools... Mary Stinnett, Ashley Anderson, and Alexa Snyder, Kaitlyn DeBoer and Lisa Patton, Jennifer Lusinski, Kerri Coapstick, and Jessica Peak.

Jeff Yalden

Lowell High school has a habit of pulling out all of the stops to help its student body feel safe and welcomed within its walls. This is why they employed a small amount of biomedical students to help track down and deal with different issues in the school. Upon their inspection, they realized that the school's biggest problem was in Mental Health Management & Awareness. After doing some research on the topic, the bio-med students came across famed motivational speaker and best selling author, Jeff Yalden. With the help of the Tri-Creek-Education Foundation & their teacher grant program, Ms. Czyszczon and her students were able to get Jeff to visit LHS and talk about his history with his own troubled mental state, and to show the student body that there can be a brighter tomorrow.

Intro to Communications

Intro to communications is the first year class for students who plan to start the radio and tv pathway at LHS. To the left you'll see pictures of period 3 & 5. Both of these are intro to communication classes.

Radio and TV 1

Radio and TV 1 is the second year class for the radio and tv pathway at LHS. Radio and TV 1o the right you'll see photos of period 1 & 4. Both of these are radio & TV 1 classes.

Eigth Hour

For the 2019-2020 school year Radio & TV 2 and the work based internship class combined into one class period. The class worked on the Friday Show as well as live streamed the football and basketball games through out the school year. This class focused on improving skills from previous years and taking on professional roles in video work environment. To the right you can see a picture of the eighth hour class!

Live Streams

For the second year RDN teamed up with RRSN to live stream The Red Devil Football games. During the winter seasons RDN began running their own live stream completely student produced. These live streams allowed students to learn how to edit live footage, film live events, broadcast over the air, and how to work in a professional setting.

Filming with Family

While all the classes may be working on something different at all times they truly all come together at the end of the day. These classes aren't just building curriculum they are building friendships. From all the countless retakes, corrupted footage, lost footage, and last minute editing, RDN is more than just a network. It's a family.

It's More Than a Friday Show....

With roughly two years of consecutive Friday Shows there has been a lot of segments that have been covered. From the short films of Frankenstein to the football game recaps and so much more the Friday Show has had something for everyone at least once. RDN is thankful for all of their viewers each week, but the segments that are created in RDN are more than just segments for a weekly show. The staff truly puts their heart into their work.

"I don't know what I would be without the Friday Show"
-Brad Bertola

"The colder it is the stronger I am."

PAINTING THE FUTURE

CREATING A BIGGER CANVAS FOR STUDENTS TO PAINT UPON

Our art department is continuously growing. Every year there seems to be more classes and more opportunities. We owe this to the fantastic teachers that work so hard to help students succeed. All of their classes help bring out the artist within any student, letting them experiment

MS.LAPAGE: "Do not be embarrassed. It takes a lot of courage to try something new, and show your vulnerability while creating. Our art program at LHS is geared so that students at any artistic level can join in and better themselves as artists- no matter from what level they are beginning. I absolutely encourage students who are not confident in their skills to try it. Creating art is not always about 'natural talent', but about the process, and growth as you create."

The construction of the trades building was a mystery for as long as it went on for, but when its doors opened, students flooded in to learn all they'd need to be for the next generation of strong manual laborers. The automotive garage, welding lab, and manufacturing workshop are all fully equipped with anything and everything our learners need to enter the industries. New equipment and state of the art facilities would be worthless without the right people running it and so the trades teachers all have backgrounds in their respective industry, so this trifecta of trade tutorials is sure to be around for years to come.

When I saw with a few glances at the room's dim overhead lights that the mask automatically blacks out your vision when it detects a bright light, I realized just how dangerous this job is. FFA Fun! Future Farmers of America is a big part of the agriculture community. Heres seniors Heley Alexander, Conner Hayden, junior Brooke Davis, and Ms. Molden at an FFA event.

"To me I think it is important to learn agriculture because agriculture is the future and it's all around the world."

Conner Hayden, Senior

Agriculture is not just about farm work, it's about the journey of your food, from field to market. It's about knowing where the things you use everyday come from. In the great state of indiana 80% of our land is covered in crops, the most out of all of the states. Agriculture is such a big part of our state and our country so why not learn a little?

"What are some skills needed to be successful? Work ethic, positive attitude, and the ability to work with others."

Mr.Garling

Horticulture is not just another farming class, in this class you learn about the basics of plant care. You will grow and care for your own plants as well as design your own floral arrangements. The hands on experience will help show students how exactly everything works as well as helping them pick up new skills. Whether you have your own garden or you work with plants this class will surely teach you some lessons that will come in handy in the future.

Addy Porch using her new found skills to make a stunning flower arrangement!

Graphic by Barbara Nield

"Its not just your typical 9-5 of going to work everyday, there's a lot of financing involved, a lot of loans, and accounting in general." Ms.Molden

Contrary to popular belief, agriculture business is about much more than farming. In this class you will learn about not only the basics of a farming operation but the finances and loans that accompany it as well. The corporate world is a harsh place, something that feels miles away from the corn rows and tractors that may come to mind. While they may feel like opposites, they are apart of it, and Ms. Molden is working hard to help her students push past those assumptions.

ANYTHING IS POSSIBLE IF YOU HAVE A SMALL ARMY OF PAPER BOATS

CALLING THE SEMINAVY

By Allison Suarez

AP Seminar is an advanced English class usually taken Junior or Senior year (followed by AP Research) which focuses on critical thinking, collaboration, and academic research: important skills that will be beneficial for future aspirations. The class is year-long, and also paired with a dual-credit writing course that prepares students for more academically toned papers and reports.

Because the classes are usually small and tightly knit, while you may enter the class as acquaintances, you'll certainly come out of it as family. This years seminar class, branded as the SEMINAVY after the small army of paper boat hats that were stress-folded by the class, never has a dull day whether it's the costume pizza party debate

If you're interested in joining the class, don't be mislead, while the class may sound daunting at first, the skills, lessons and friends you earn will be well worth it in the future.

1. WHATEVER FLOATS YOUR BOAT: The promising beginning of what would be the Seminavy lives on top of Ms. McPheeter's cabinet, among some origami crowns. 2. OUTLINING THE FUTURE: As critical deadlines neared, the class goes over some basics on how to produce an effective outline, from picking comprehensive perspectives to synthesizing credible sources, for their IRR (individual research report). 3. HEAVY LIES THE CROWN: Natalie Kotlin (12), Casper Mendoza (12) and Breanne Gatlin (12) show off their origami crowns as they juggle several AP and Dual-Credit classes their senior year. 4. WE RE ALL IN THIS TOGETHER: *The Seminavy decided in perfect fashion to do a High School Musical-eqsue pose for their group photo. JUST DANCE: As the first semester came to an ultimate end, the Seminavy said goodbye to their semester course (W131) in perfect fashion: a Christmas party. Filled with homemade cookies, karaoke, and dancing, it by heart was the perfect goodbye for 2019.

INTRODUCING THE TRAILBLAZER

"AP RESEARCH BUILDS WRITING AND ORAL COMMUNICATION SKILLS THAT ARE UNMATCHED IN OTHER HIGH SCHOOL CURRICULUMS; THE BULK OF THESE SKILLS ARE LEARNED INITALLY IN AP SEMINAR." DELANEY HUBER, SENIOR

RESEARCH THIS: While AP Seminar has been branded "the hardest class at LHS" by many students due to its college-esque curriculum, senior Delaney Huber, who took Seminar last year, decided to seize a huge opportunity when she enrolled as the first and only student at LHS to take AP Research. Unlike AP Seminar, AP Research's final product includes a fifteen to twenty page double-spaced research paper and a fifteen to twenty minute presentation based on the student's own study/experiment. Delaney's research question she passionately pursued was "What catalysts are contributing to inequality amongst socioeconomic classes within county small claims court proceedings?" Delaney began working on her project since the summer before school started, in which she acquired her "preliminary research completed with a compilation of fifty academic sources broken down by genre" as well as a rough draft of her research question. Even after all that hard work, before she could continue further she had to pitch her research question to an IRB (ethical review board) and to no surprise, it was unanimously approved. As we hit the second semester Delaney will continue conducting her research which includes interviews with her participants, as well as judges, lawyers, and defendants of Lake County's Small Claims Courts. When asked how AP Research prepares her for college, she said she discovered an important skill: networking. "This work that I was doing allowed me the opportunity to be put in touch with Indiana Supreme Court Justices that are passionate about my research topic. Those justices then took the time to reach out ot their peers who are academic researchers, and I was able to talk to them!" If you're thinking about taking AP Seminar and Research but are still debating, don't let the challenge scare you, Delaney is proof that with hard work, dedication and something you're passionate about, you'll go far and the achievements will outweigh the obstacles.

Brain Leak 1.) The whole class gathers around while Mr. Harmon explains the different lobes of the brain. The class is intriguing to learn. Cut, It, Out! 2.) Erica Bautista (11) and Madelyn Worhtington (11) are doing a dissection on a sheep brain. They were really amazed to see the different parts of the brain. Inside & Out 3.) Students work on decorating a poster for each kind of neuron that is inside the body. The posters were created to represent neurons and their body. This Is Really Cool! 4.) More students working on labeling a sheep brain. They were amazed with each part of the brain they knew. Brain Power! 5.) Juanita Rodriguez (11), Alexa Henke (11), and other students are standing by their sheep brains. The class was interested in dissecting. Holy Neurons! 6.) Frankie Ottomanelli (12), Erin Rose (11), Mackenzie Patterson (11) work on a poster for the neurons inside the body.

CNA With Mrs. Harmon

Mrs. Harmon's CNA class will train the students on skills that are necessary for them to enter the clinical setting at the Nursing Home. Students have to obtain 75 hours of clinical hours at the Nursing home which will occur second semester. Indiana State Department of Health will come in and test the students near the end of the school year and will issue a Certified Nursing Assistant license once they pass the skills and written exam. This course will open the door into healthcare allowing them to start at the level of direct patient care. She also teaches a class of Anatomy to help students understand the basics of the body and educate you to further the career pathway to her CNA class. Learning and understanding the content of her classes is interesting and intriguing to enroll in.

The Beat of the Heart

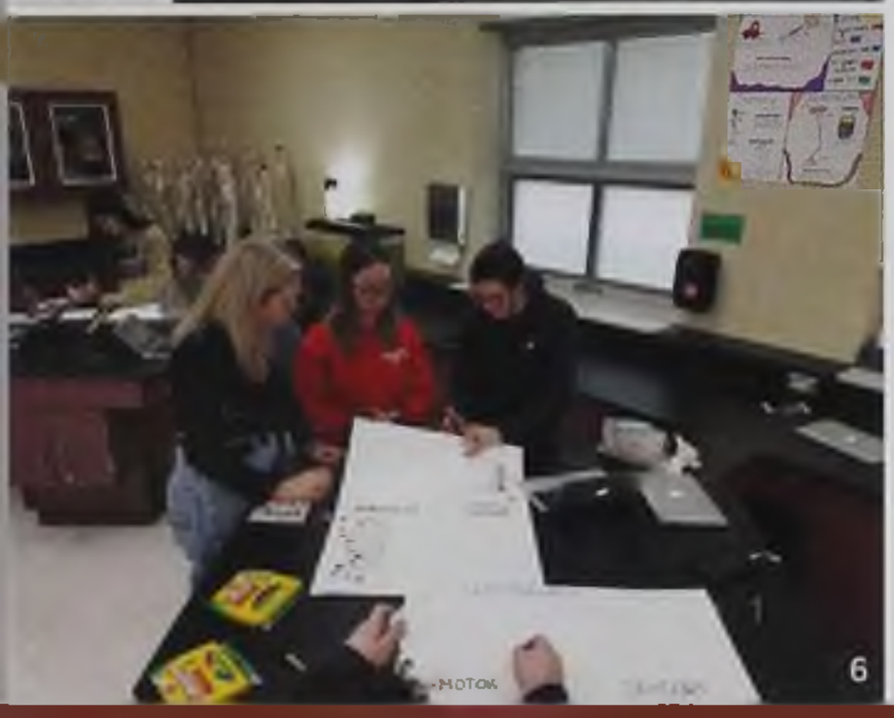
By: Emily Salomon and Lillian Biancardi



Lowell High School offers many medical career classes to follow that pathway for education. Human Body Systems and Principles of Biomedical Science are the two main classes that Mr. Harmon teaches Sophomores through Seniors. The students who take the PBS class will study the body, and different techniques to do an autopsy to solve a case of a female who was found dead. In HBS, students are taught the importance of the Central and Peripheral Nervous Systems and we will also learn all the different human body systems that help all the bodies functions. These classes are very educational but also interesting to study for the understanding of our body.

MI With Ms. Czyszczon

Medical Interventions is another health based class offered at Lowell High School. This medical class is detailed learning about procedures, the body parts, and different types of medicines. Medical interventions are measures to improve health or alter the course of an illness and can be used to prevent, diagnose, and treat disease. This class is a very interesting course to enroll in if you are interested in pursuing a medical course.

A Concert with "Bandeur"!

Even somewhere as advanced as LHS, it's hard to beat the classics. Our concert band practices constantly to ensure that their performances are always top class!

Wood can be used for lots of things furniture, carvings, writing you and your lovers name on a tree but arguably the most artistic of these is playing woodwind instruments. From flutes to clarinets, LHS has an entire class dedicated to this category of instruments!

Huff and Puff!

Totally Jazzed!

Imagine a cold night in the big city. What's the music you imagine to go with that? Jazz, of course, which has been a staple of American culture for years now. Now, these kids are carrying on those traditions!

School spirit is something that LHS values deeply, and nothing embodies that more than our brilliant pep band! Performing at all of our pep sessions and many of our wondrous sporting competitions, you can be sure that this legacy will last for ages.

THE MAN BEHIND IT ALL

This school year, Mr. Greene joined the Lowell High School Staff as the new head of the choir department. Mr. Greene has brought fresh ideas to the table and a fun approach to the students, sparking excitement for the new year with their musical skills. He has managed to put together an "Extraordinary Merry Christmas" show for show choir, and prepared our actors and actresses for our spring Musical, Seussical. In addition, Mr. Greene has brought confidence to the students every day in class helping them better their vocal techniques in choir and acting skills in this year's musical theater class. We look forward to see how Mr. Greene's teaching continues to motivate and better the LHS choir department in the years to come.St

Seussical The Musical

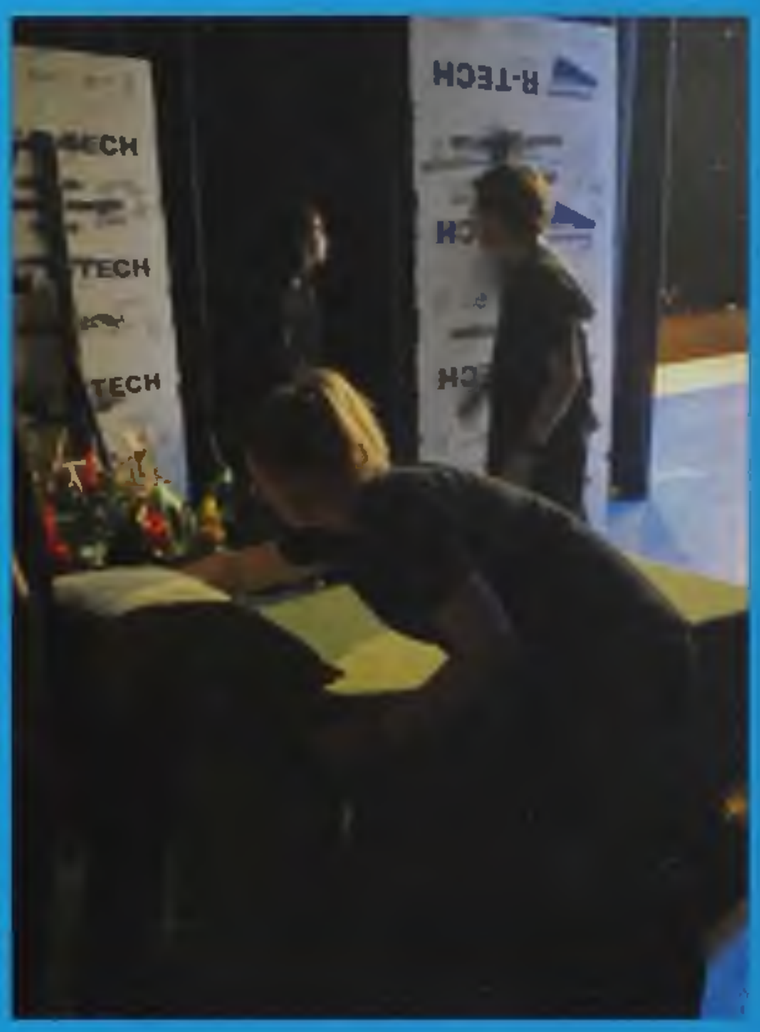
In the 2020 Spring Musical, Seussical, The Cat in the Hat (played by Blake Devalk, senior) guides JoJo through the various stories of Dr. Seuss himself. The musical tells the story of Horton the Elephant who comes across the dust speck sized planet Who. Horton places Who on a clover, but the clover gets stolen from him. The audience witnesses the journey of the Whos being recovered, and they get to indulge in the story of JoJo, who lives on Who, as he explores his own imagination and deals with life's difficulties. The story of the musical covers important topics such as; addiction, war, depression, loneliness, etc. The students collaborated through all of their roadblocks to put on an amazing show for not only Lowell High School, but the entire community of Lowell.

The lead cast member of the show was Blake Devalk, staring as the Cat in Hat! This was Blake's final production after four years of Lowell High School's Threater Department

Senior Rachel Akers and sophomore Allison Swarens perform "Mambo!" in the Circus McGurkus.

After each show cast members fill the crowds to meet fans in full costume!

The show could not go on without the crew back stage moving props and scenery.



John Yelkich, junior, stars as the glum Horton The Elephant as he gets put on display with the travelling circus.

Senior Emma Kharchaf stars as Mayzie La Bird while she sings and relaxes at Palm Beach

TAKING THE (ACADEMIA) CUP

BY: ALLISON SUAREZ

"We need students from three different grade point brackets. Events like interview and debate are skills that will help students for their entire life."

Dribbling Devils

The Lady Red Devils started out therir season with a winning streak. Beating Wheeler, North Newton, Hammon, East Chicago, and Hebron in their first 5 games. Later in the season the ladies hit a bump and faced some tough games against Hanover Central, Crown Point, Kankakee Valley, Munster, and Kouts. They game back late in the season allowing them to have a 13-9 season.

We are Team

But we are more like a family

The Lady Red Devils don't just go to practice and games for hours. These ladies makes memories and opportunities with each other building a bond like no other team. They go to see other teams play, have team meals, and truly get to know their teammates. This makes trusting your team mates so much easier.

The girls also give back their time to the community hoping to help future generations of basketball players as they often help out Junior Red Devil games on the weekends, and run basketball camps through the summer.

This years seniors, Dani Collins, Tori Langen, and Abby Lewndowski all have been playing together since before high school even started. It's truly a senior send off letting these ladies go. Dani has been playing on Varsity all four years and will be attedning Manchester University this fall. Tori Langen will be going to Holy Cross College. Abby Lewandowski will be attending Purdue University this fall also. The girls will be missed as the program has grown so much since these girls started their first year of high school basketball the same year Coach Chavez started coaching for Lowell.

Protect "The Pit"

By: Daphne Edmondson & Alma Vasquez

This team of young men will stop at nothing to "Protect 'The Pit'". The endless hardwork and effort put in by each one of them at practices and games is evident. With no seniors on the team this year, and only two of the boys returning on the varsity team, this year the junior boys, and two sophomores, had to step up and take charge as top dogs. Even though the boys on this team have been friends for awhile, they needed to learn how to work together on the court to accomplish their goals they had set for themselves this season. The boys and coach Delgado hope to return next season with more ambition than this year.

1. Warm ups: Chris Mantis (11) warming up his free throw shots before the game.
2. Pass it!: Cameron Stojancevich (11) making a strong pass to his teammate in hopes to score another point.
3. Sophomore Sportsmanship: Sophomore, Cayden Vasko, shows his sportsmanship before tip off against Lake Central.
4. Behind the Team: Managers Daphne Edmondson (12) and Parker Rufo (12) get ready for the game.
5. Keeping an Eye Out: Adam Richardson (11) waits for his chance at a rebound.

6. Teamwork: The team meets in the center of the court before tip off.
7. D-Up: Zachary Lomalie (11) plays defense during a tough game.
8. Shoot for 3: Tyson Chavez (11) jumps high in hopes of scoring 3 points for the team.
9. ESPN: The student section leaders, Aaron DuBord (12), Alexander Pavlick (12), and Tyler Hamm (12), have a fake ESPN broadcast during the game.
10. Chris Mantis (11), celebrates scoring 1,000 points with his friends after the game.

Roughing it Up!

By: Daphne Edmondson

Wrestling is one of the world's oldest sports. Since the inception of physical completion, trying to keep an opponent pinned to the ground has been a popular spectator game. The sport's flame still burns brightly with the help of Joe Stanley and his assistant coaches. They've been helping the boys improve their strength and form to ensure another year of team building and training for the Red Devil Wrestlers.

11. Matthew Kraft (10) pins his opponent with a bundle.
12. Team Talk: Captains meetup and discuss rules in the middle of the mat before the meet.
13. Tyler Gorman (10) shakes his opponents hand before the match.
14. Shawn Hollis (12) setting up a tie.
15. Hunter Rowheder (12) working his opponent on top.

Senior Spotlight
Shawn Hollis

1. How has wrestling impacted your life?
It has impacted my life in many ways. It has shaped me into the man I am today and has given me life long friends.
2. Do you have any advice for the underclassmen?
Keep your head up, all the hard work will be worth it in the end.
3. What motivates you?
My family and friends. Mostly my grandpa, he always came to every one of my wrestling meets and I always try to do my best because I know he's still watching.
4. The best song to listen to before a match?
Time for That by Kevin Gates, I listen to it because his songs get me in the zone and help me focus.

RAISING THE BAR

GYMNASTICS

By: Dani Santos and JailaJade Steward

From the back handsprings to the full layouts, our Lowell High School Gymnastics Team makes it all look effortless. They have spent months mastering their routines and it's definitely showing. In the past, their team has gone through hardships but the girls were able to tape up their rips and brace their ankles which resulted in 9 team members, who are extremely talented. They had a very good season, even though they faced some of the toughest teams in the state. and scored some of the highest scores in the last three years. In the eyes of the girls, the gymnasium is their second home and the team their second family. They spend every free moment there practicing and making sure their stunts are perfect. For senior Alexis Ratkay, graduating means leaving a big part of her life behind. She says, "I've been on the varsity team for four years now and I am so sad to be leaving it. The environment that we've created is full of positivity and support. The girls and our coaches work so hard and it's all paid off."

Twirl, Spin, and Flip! 1.) The gymnastics team works day in and out to perfect their routine, and it is all paying off. Such a great group of girls! Team Spirit 2.) The full Gymnastics team poses next to each other, proud of their accomplishments! SNAP! 3.) Alexis Ratkay (12) strikes a pose for the camera after a meet. AND SCENE! 4.) Madison Wilkins (10) Throws her arms in the air-the universal sign that one's gymnastics routine is over.

Boys & Devil

Unfathomable in a single fathom. With their own in school practice pool, both of our swimming teams have been prepping for a great season all year long. Diving into the water may seem scary at first, but these athletes learned not just to brave it, but to thrive in it. They have made an art form out of moving through the water at a breakneck pace, and putting themselves in first place! These students have taught themselves to move like aquatic achievers, and we could not be more proud of them!

Girls Red Swimming

The Lady Red Devils had an outstanding season. We went 14-3, Placed second at conference, and 4th at Sectionals. The girls have always put up a fight with outstanding competitors including Muster, Lake Central, Hobart and Crown Point. Having one of the fastest sectionals in the state for swimming, the girls were happy with the results. Many girls had PR's including divers and were impressed with how the team ended the season.

A letter from the editors...

Dear Lowell High School,

Our year has ended and the time we have shared has come to the end. The memories seem distant in our minds as we think back to all the people and lives we have encountered in our short school year. As we sit back and reflect, as editors, we hope that the book you are holding in your hands has captured the pride memories you wish to remember. From us, the editors of your Lowell High School yearbook, to you, we hope that we served you well and filled the pages you flip through in this book with more than you expected. We aimed to capture our true idea of "pride" and how we see it in our everyday lives. So we want to extend a grand thank you for spending your time with us and we hope that your summer or next chapter serves you well.

Sincerely your editors,

Gillian Richards Skyler Lewis Allison Dorse
